

Scams & Protection

20 Years a Fakir

S. James Weldon

Weldon traveled this country during the last 20 years of the 19th century, learning and perfecting tricks of the street peddler. Many of these ploys are still used today in one form or another. He helped pioneer the many subtleties of "street selling" and "percentage moves." His self-taught mastery of man's basic needs enabled him to manipulate people...

How Gamblers Win - Secrets of Advantage Playing

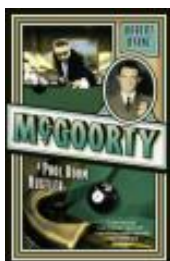

Gerritt M. Evans

This is a pre-Erdnase description of moves and ruses to cheat at the card table by an unnamed 'retired professional'. However, Bart Whaley's research revealed that this retired professional was Gerritt M. Evans, that his real name was most likely Edward M. Grandin and that Evans/Grandin was not a professional gambler. (Bart is working on an upcoming...

McGoorty: A Pool Room Hustler

Robert Byrne

McGoorty is master billiards writer Robert Byrne's racy account of the life of Danny McGoorty, a billiards champion of that bygone era when cue artists were often scam artists and pool rooms were held to be dens of iniquity. Hustler and hobo, womanizer and fashion plate, McGoorty was at once eyewitness to Capone's Chicago and the feats of greats like...
