Sacred Theatre

Ralph Yarrow

The notion of sacred has long informed the work of British dramatists such as Harold Pinter and Tom Stoppard, and Ralph Yarrow's Sacred Theatre is the first ebook to examine the role of the sacred in the practice, process and performance of drama.

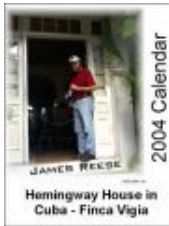

The volume considers the definition of the terms 'sacred' and theatre and suggests that the joining...

History

Issues in Curating Contemporary Art and Performance

Judith Rugg

Issues in Curating Contemporary Art and Performance proposes that the concept of curating is a complex field of enquiry. By drawing together artists, curators, architects and cultural theorists, it proposes new approaches to curating and ways of developing critical enquiry about this increasingly expanding field.

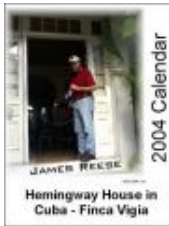

Focusing on pertinent issues in...
